

Cafe Newsletter

1, October 2007

Quote of the month:

Welcome to the October edition of Assyrian Cafe Newsletter. I want to apologize ahead of time for the very short newsletter I'm about to give you guys to read, but time is very important to me at this particular point in my life. But moving right along, this month has a lot of exciting and new things installed for the Assyrian Cafe community. The voice chat has been put back up for us to use, the creation of the Assyrian Cafe cap and Halloween coming soon. So I'm going to keep this month's newsletter short and sweet. I hope you guys enjoy.

TESTING ONE, TWO, THREE, TESTING

Not long ago, before the chat rooms got their new look, Assyrian Cafe gave chatters the choice of using their keyboard to interact with one another or using their voice to do so. But for a while the voice chat option has not been available for a while. I would happily like to announce the voice chat option is up for Cafe users to enjoy. So I would like to send an invitation to all Assyrian Cafe users to go ahead and try out the voice chat option. It honestly does bring a whole new meaning to chatting online.

IT'S OFF THE HOOK!

Not long ago, while I was doing my daily browsing of the forums, I came across a very good looking piece of textile. The Assyrian Cafe cap! It is white, and has "Assyrian Cafe" logo written across, very good looking piece of textile. Assyrian Guy kindly sent a complimentary cap to Abella and now she proudly wears that cap representing the Assyrian Cafe website. Good on you Abella, cheers!

TRICKER TREAT

I'm sure all of you are aware of Halloween being not so far away, October 31 to be exact. Here in Australia, Halloween is becoming a holiday we are seeing more and more of, which is funny because it doesn't really apply to us. According to wrydology.com Halloween is a contraction of "All Hallows Evening" or "All Hallows Eve"; November 1st is "All Saints' Day", also known as "All Hallows". The history of Halloween has its roots in the Celtic festival of Samhain. This was absorbed by the Romans and later the Christians to give All Saints' Day. So I hope that clears up a thing or two about the holiday Halloween. Enjoy it!

SAY CHEESE

As you all know, Assyrian Cafe has a section of the website dedicated to photos. I would like to send out an invitation to anyone who would like to post photos on our website to submit their photos to:
